From the Publisher

These past months have been challenging for family offices around the globe as well as for our team members. I hope that all of our friends and members are staying safe and invite you to contact me personally if we can help you in any way at this difficult time.

While working remotely and eventually back in our offices, we have been fine-tuning a new platform that I am extremely excited about. FON Marketplace is a game-changing online technology platform designed for family offices to access private deals and connect with other family offices to co-invest; research luxury goods and services; share philanthropic ideas; and more. It was created to streamline the process of investing in a private placement which today is still an antiquated system. We're using a proprietary algorithm that enables family offices to easily identify the best opportunities. There is nothing like this available anywhere today.

During the 20 years I have been working with family offices, a common complaint is lack of access to good deal flow, alternative investments, and other services families traditionally seek. Many family offices have accounts at the biggest banks which may be too big to take advantage of the best private deals. This digital platform now provides family offices the ability to connect with other families through co-investments, educational events, philanthropy and luxury products and services.

FON Marketplace was initially designed for only family offices that had their own deals and were looking for a few family offices to co-invest; however, as demand for our distribution grew exponentially, we decided to open the platform and allow other qualified issuers to list their offering. FON Marketplace is the largest platform of private placements consisting of hedge funds, venture capital funds, private equity, direct deals, PIPES, and anything that falls under the definition of a private placement.

It is a pleasure to publish the summer issue of Family Office Networks Magazine, which is now published quarterly and which will soon become a monthly publication with new editions for Europe, Asia and the Middle East. The magazine focuses on our audience's interests in not just family office and investing news but also on the all too valuable luxury space, capitalizing on family offices' penchant for the Arts, Jewelry, Antiques, Travel, Philanthropy and the rest of the lifestyle. We hope you enjoy it and welcome your ideas and feedback.

Andrew Schneider

From the Editor In Chief

It is a great pleasure to introduce the summer issue of Family Office Networks' luxury lifestyle magazine, which represents the fourth issue of our quarterly publication and hopefully one of the best yet. Despite today's challenging times, our team has worked hard to bring readers curated coverage of topics such as Rolls Royce Dawn: The Sexiest Rolls-Royce Ever, A Stunning Sea-Front Villa on the Amalfi Coast, Removing the Target: How to Avoid Real and Potential Personal Safety Threats for Your Family Office, and Family Office Profile – An Interview with Aradhna Gupta Dayal, CIO, Regal Ford Asia Family Office.

During the past few months, we have had an overwhelmingly positive response to FON Magazine from luxury brands that are now relying on upscale magazines to reach their target audience following the cancellation of events such as boat shows and art exhibitions. We're committed to working with these companies to introduce more world-class opportunities to our families via exceptional custom content. We're proud to reach the top 4 percent of the U.S. and global population with an average household income of $5 million+ and average net worth of $100 million+.

Family Office Networks is also preparing to launch FON Europe Magazine, FON Asia

Magazine and FON MENA Magazine to reflect our global focus. We will then have four full-color glossy magazines providing wealthy families around these regions with curated content on topics such as art, automobiles, yachts, jewelry, travel, family profiles, private aviation, philanthropy, family office trends and more. Content will be featured in both the print and online editions as well as on the magazine website where readers may also view past issues.

We hope you enjoy reading our summer issue as much as we enjoyed creating it. Please let us know if you have ideas or feedback for future editorial.

From the Art Director

Hello Readers! I hope you are all staying safe during these challenging times. It has been difficult for us to work remotely but we made it happen. We are pleased to introduce our Summer Issue of Family Office Networks luxury lifestyle magazine. We have covered all luxury related topics in spite of today's crazy times.

I'm thrilled that the spring issue has been so well received by our readers. Since we have not had any of our in-person events scheduled due to the pandemic, I was not able to choose any photos for the Out and About section of this edition. I miss our events and hope we will get to see each other soon. Despite all of this, we did manage to adapt with the times and FON Webinars have been a great success.

During these past few months, I have been involved in designing the UI/UX for Family Office Networks Marketplace, which was initially designed for only family offices that had their own deals and were looking for a few family offices to co-invest. FON Marketplace is the largest platform of private placements consisting of hedge funds, venture capital funds, private equity, direct deals, PIPES, and anything that falls under the definition of a private placement. I am honored to say that FON Marketplace has launched and that it has been very well received by our members.

As promised, I am also very excited to share my surrealistic photo art series in this issue. The article entitled, "Surreal Photos: Look like They're Straight out of a Dream" showcases some of my surreal photos. I will really appreciate your thoughts and feedback.

I hope you enjoy our summer issue. Please do let us know if you have any suggestions to improve our upcoming issues.

From the Copy Editor

I am so excited to be a part of the launch of this fourth official issue of Family Office Networks' luxury magazine. I feel grateful that our team continues to publish and introduce new investment, luxury, and networking opportunities to our special network of family offices amidst the COVID-19 chaos through this magazine platform. The FON team has worked hard on delivering quality material to our niche audience and we aim to provide positive, informative, and engaging content as an outlet during these challenging times. I hope we succeeded in doing so with this Summer 2022 issue.

Also serving as the Executive Assistant at FON headquarters in West Palm Beach, FL, I have had the privilege of watching our talented team make a massive transition from in-person networking events to conducting online webinars for our members, which has shown to be a great success. This year, FON also officially launched a long-awaited digital platform, Family Office Marketplace, which allows family offices, high net worth individuals, luxury brands, service providers, charitable organizations, and other allocators to connect under one, sophisticated platform. This platform will change the way information and deals are made between companies and investors in the future under FON operation. Please enjoy this issue of our lifestyle magazine and let us know if you have any feedback for future issues.

Please also let us know if you are interested in learning more about our new digital platform as we would be happy to provide more information. Our main goal is to allow our members to stay connected during times such as these.

FON Events & Conferences

Family Office Networks hosts many events throughout the year, including mixers, symposiums, cocktail receptions, polo, golf outings, poker tournaments, conferences, luncheons, cigar parties, fashion shows, caviar tastings, yacht parties, and more. In these intimate settings, families feel comfortable sharing ideas and expanding their network while giving back to the community.

Typically, 4 - 5 monthly events are held to provide family offices with high-level information on a variety of topics. Every one of these events draws sizable crowds of substantial families and ultra-high net worth individuals. Our network has allowed us to build relationships with family offices in every major pocket of wealth throughout the world.

Family Office Investment Club Events organized by Family Office Networks also offer families with a typical minimum net worth of $50 million the opportunity to join clubs that reflect their areas of interest, including regional groups such as the Palm Beach Investment Club and newly launched specialty clubs for Women, Art and more. As an example, the Palm Beach Investment Club enjoys a strong membership base of 20-25 family offices representing families from around the country whose wealth is derived from a variety of industries, businesses and legacies. The Club meets or speaks weekly or monthly.
